Alchemy of Color I & II for online classes

Media: watercolor, acrylic & oils

In these series of virtual classes via Zoom, we will be doing lots of simple color exercises to explore the properties of color.

Paint: This course is open to watercolor, acrylic and oils. Using gouache is not recommended. Please contact me if you have questions on the media.

Here is the list of colors you will need for these classes. Please invest in these colors if you are serious about learning about color, pigments, and their personalities.

Please buy paints in a tube 37 ml. Watercolor cakes require too much water. Fluid paints ie. Golden Fluids are expensive for this class. We will be doing a lot of mixing.

Do not buy colors that say "HUE" at the end of the color name unless it is Alizarin Crimson Hue from Golden Acrylics.

Titanium White - large tube* 150 ML Titanium white can be student grade

NOTE: If you are a watercolor artist the 15 ml tubes do not offer much paint to play with. Please consider *Cheap Joe's American Journey (CJAJ) 37 ml watercolor paint:

<https://www.cheapjoes.com/american-journey-artists-watercolor.html>

Cheap Joe's likes to name their pigments cute names:

- Sour Lemon is Hansa Yellow
- Joe's yellow is Benzi Yellow
- Joe's Red is Pyrrole
- Joe's Green and Blue are Phthalos respectively
- Royal Amethyst is Dioxazine Purple

Paint Surface: We will be doing a lot of color mixing and small paintings putting the class's lesson into practice. Paper for watercolor or acrylic - preferably 140 lb or heavier; either cold press (rough) or hot press (smooth). Note: Hot Press (smooth) is more desirable for mixing with a palette knife. At least 20 sheets @ 11 x 14 or 9 x 12 inches. Not any smaller please.

Or consider a watercolor block of paper: <http://www.dickblick.com/items/10156-1154/>

NOTE: A watercolor block like Arches is a handy surface to work with as it eliminates the need for a support surface and tape.

Strathmore Mixed Media Paper: <https://www.dickblick.com/products/strathmore-400-series-mixed-media-pads/> 11 x 14

If you are working w/ oils* you can get canvas paper: <http://www.dickblick.com/items/09811-1006/> 9"x12".

Palette knife: Consider 2 knives of different size. They are essential for mixing colors

Or other size/options:

Brushes: We will be doing small paintings as exercise so whatever you have on hand is fine. A palette knife is better for mixing paint. I use a variety of brushes from cheap hardware store from bristle brushes to synthetic brushes for acrylic/oil.

If you need to purchase brushes, consider these: <http://www.dickblick.com/products/blick-scholastic-wonder-white-brushes/#photos>

Container for water for watermedia artists (watercolor or acrylic)

Paper or cloth towels

Tape: for holding your sheet of paper to a support surface. $\frac{3}{4}$ " - 1" or wider width is sufficient.
<https://www.dickblick.com/products/artist-tape/>

NOTE: Please no colored tape.

Support surface: A board or foam core or any strong surface larger than the paper that can support that sheet of paper taped to it and not bend, fold or buckle.

Palette: You can buy palette paper pads @ <http://www.dickblick.com/items/24124-1034/> This is White palette paper. If you prefer Grey palette paper: <https://www.dickblick.com/products/richeson-grey-matters-paper-palette/>

Or a roll of freezer paper works just as well (Amazon). If you buy a pad get a large size so you have room to play w/ mixing colors..

Other Items: Pocket Color Wheel
